OVER 200 VILLISTAS ARE CAPTURED BY AMERICANS

RAPIDITY OF PURSUIT PREVENTED VILLA
FROM MAKING PROPOSED ATTACK ON CHIHUAHUA CITY.

(By International News Service.)

SAN ANTONIO, April 4.—More than two hundred Villistas are reported captured by the American forces, according to advices received from Fort Sam Houston.

The total Villa losses is unofficially estimated today at 300. At least 60 were killed in the Sangeronimo battle and more were shot down in the running fight that followed that battle.

It was definitely established today that the Seventh cavalry, under Colonel Erwin, inflicted the first defeat on Villa. Learning that Villa was headed for Guerrero, the Americans attempted to cut him off by making a night march through a driving rain storm. Villa succeeded in attacking the town, however, before the Americans arrived.

Villa has been compelled by the rapidity of the American pursuit to abandon his proposed attack on Chihuahua City. On Sunday Villa was 42 miles south of Chihuahua City and the American pursuers only 20 miles behind, according to dispatches brought by courier to El Paso from Casas Grandes.

According to the courier, the deceiving of the American troops by a Mexican guide was the only obstacle that prevented the capture of Villa at the Sangeronimo fight in the Guerrero district last Wednesday.

DEPUTY COLLECTORS IMPLICATED IN TOBACCO FRAUD CONSPIRACY

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 4.—Treasury officials stated today they have evidence that several deputy internal revenue collectors were implicated in a conspiracy by which the tobacco dealers have defrauded the United States government out of twenty millions of revenue. Some tobacco dealers, already under arrest in New York, confessed they paid revenue agents from five to ten dollars weekly and other revenue men solicited bribes.

BAND TO REMAIN UNTIL APRIL 15

MRS. BURGOWNE WILL CARRY OUT PLANS OF COMMODORE AND RETAIN SARACINA UNTIL
MIDDLE OF MONTH.

The doubt that may have existed in the minds of many persons as to whether Saracina's Virtuoso Concert band would continue its daily concerts at Burgoyne casino will be dispelled by the announcement that Mrs. Burgoyne will retain the services of the band until April 15.

It was the plan of the late Commodore Burgoyne to keep the band here until that date and while it was generally understood that the city commissioners would pay for the two weeks services of the band, it was understood between the commissioners and the commodore that he would pay the bill, and it was only his desire to give the commissioners the credit for keeping the musicians here.

Mrs. Burgoyne desires to carry out her late husband's wishes and in keeping the band in Daytona she is prompted by what she feels would be his desires.

$2,000 CITY TAXES ARE ALREADY PAID

EDMUND MILLER FIRST PROPER-TY OWNER TO ENRICH THE COFFERS OF THE CITY OF DAY-TONA.

The city tax books opened April 1 and, during the first day and one-half that the books were open, Collector Milligan took into the coffers of the city over $2,000. The city hall was closed Tuesday afternoon during the funeral of the late Commodore Burgoyne.

Edmund Miller was the first property owner to pay city taxes the day the books opened.

NEW ORGAN INSTALLED AT THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Baptist church is to be congratulated upon the installation of a new organ, known as the "Vocallion," and also upon the possession of the present organist, Miss Hodgkin, who is a past master of the art. The organ was used Sunday for the first time and was a great addition to the musical part of the service.

REPORTED THAT VILLA HAS ATTACKED CHIHUAHUA CITY

LAREDO, Tex., April 4.—Reports that Villa forces have attacked Chihuahua City are persistent in Nuevo Laredo. It is stated that Villa fooled the American forces by going southward with a small band, while his main column attacked Chihuahua. There is no confirmation of the reports.

VILLA REPORTED NEAR SATEVO.

EL PASO, April 4.—The presence of Villa with a small band of followers near Satevo was confirmed today by dispatches received here. It is believed the bandit leader is heading for Parral.

ZURICH, April 4.—German reports state that Holland has closed the German and Belgian frontiers and concentrated all her troops there.

200 KILLED WHEN BRITISH MUNITION PLANT BLEW UP

LONDON, April 4.—The big British munitions plant in Kent blew up this morning. Two hundred persons were killed and many others wounded.

ADDITIONAL TROOPS TO REINFORCE PERSHING

(By International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, April 4.—The war department announced that more troops would be sent to reinforce General Pershing. Details of the movement are withheld, but seeming authentic reports state that new troops are possibly the Fifth cavalry, which were recently ordered to the border. It is said they will strengthen the ever-lengthening line of communications. It is also announced that nineteen Apache scouts, under Captain Hazard, have left Arizona for service with General Pershing.

SON OF CONVETERATE VETERAN WILL DELIVER RE-UNION ADDRESS

(By International News Service.)

LOUISVILLE, April 4.—Irwin Cobb, himself son of a Confederate veteran, has accepted an invitation to deliver the principal oration at the Reunion in Birmingham in May.

INNES DENIES ANY KNOWLEDGE OF DISAPPEARANCE OF NELMS SISTERS

(By International News Service.)

ATLANTA, April 4.—Peeping through the barred odors of the cell so long occupied by Leo Frank, Victor Innes today denied any knowledge of the disappearance of the Nelms sisters and their estate. Together with his wife, he will be arraigned, probably tomorrow, on charges of larceny after trust. The trial is likely to be set for the first week of May.

GREAT BRITAIN EXPECTS WAR TO LAST AT LEAST ANOTHER YEAR

(By International News Service.)

LONDON, April 4.—That Great Britain expects the war to last at least another year was shown today when Chancellor of the Exchequer McKenna introduced the budget. It provides money for continuing the war another year. The budget calls for approximately eight billion dollars.

A dollar this way is a fortune some day

Saving, once started, soon becomes a habit and if followed steadfastly by depositing uniform amounts each week or month it creates ambition and leads to success in one's chosen field of work. . . .

Fortune frowns on extravagance—smiles on thrift. A dollar a week or month placed in our safe-keeping at 4 per cent interest means "a fortune some day."

GAVE PLEASANT FAREWELL PARTY TO A FEW FRIENDS

Miss A. C. George, of Brookline, Mass., Western Union telegraph operator at the Ridgewood hotel during the season, left Sunday for Silver Springs and other points before going north. Saturday evening Miss George entertained a few friends very pleasantly at a farewell party, given at the home of Mrs. Gertrude Wall, 227 Magnolia, where she had been located during her stay here. The evening was delightfully spent in social conversation, with music and in the enjoyment of refreshments.

Kiss Reports to Date.

"Is a kiss," asks the New York Herald, "worth one hundred and twenty-five dollars a minute?" No kiss that has to be bought is worth anything at all. Some kisses, voluntarily bestowed, are priceless above rubies or life itself.—Columbia State.

Explaining Baldness.

Dr. C. T. Ewart, a Scotch scientist, says his researches have led him to believe that the loss of hair on man's head and other parts of his body is a certain indication of intellectual progress. "This fact," he maintains, "explains to some extent the baldness which is always so prevalent among college professors and members of learned societies."

ANCIENT RUINS ON ROUTE

Road That Colonel Dodd's Column Traversed Was a Great Spanish Highway 250 Years Ago—Mexican Government Never Had Strong Hold on That Section of Country.

The American troops now are passing through an interesting and historic region in Mexico on their hunt after Villa, writes H. D. Slater, an El Paso engineer, who spent three years in the country to which Villa has retreated. His map of the country now is in the hands of the United States army officers invading Mexico. Mr. Slater's knowledge of the country, its peoples and the history surrounding them probably is as complete as that of any living man.

"General Pershing's column entered Mexico over a road known in late years as the Mormon road, because the earlier established Mormon colonies were reached over that route before the present Mexico Northwestern railroad was built," he says. "But for half a century before that the route had been known as the 'Smugglers' trail.'"

"Colonel Dodd's column from Hachita passed over a road that dates back far beyond the earliest days of the Spanish settlements in the southwest. It was a great Spanish highway 250 years ago. For ages before the Spanish occupation the same road had been followed by the various tribes of Pueblo Indians of the region and by their persecutors, the nomad Indians who preceded the Apaches and Comanches and other southwestern plains Indians of our day.

Mormons the Pioneers.

"The first investigations by Mormon pioneers as to the possibilities of settlement in the Casas Grandes country were made in the late seventies, before the Mexican Central railroad was built. Some years later, in the early eighties, the first lands were taken up, and the Mexican Central railroad was used for passage of settlers and goods, although an overland trip of about 115 miles was necessary to reach the first colonies. Later the road from Columbus was opened, and the colonies were reached direct over a somewhat shorter and easier route. Colonia Juarez was the first important colony. Diaz, Morelos, Oaxaca, Pacheco, Garcia, Chichupa and others followed in the late eighties and early nineties, with Dublin established about the time the Mexico Northwestern railroad (then the Rio Grande, Sierra Madre and Pacific) was started out of Ciudad Juarez (1896).

"Before the Sierra Madre railroad was built a syndicate of Mormon capitalists and others had promoted a railroad from Deming via Columbus to the Casas Grandes colony region. This was the John W. Young project. An effort was made to interest the New York owners of the Corralitos ranch and the San Pedro or Candelaria mines, but these people later decided to build the railroad themselves directly out of Ciudad Juarez to the mines and Casas Grandes. The Columbus project then lapsed. Part of the roadbed had been graded, and the present wagon road follows the old grade for some distance.

"The Mexican government never had a strong hold on the mountainous region inhabited by independent and warlike tribes of Indians. 'Tax insurrections' were frequent. About twenty-two years ago the Temocho Indians rose in revolt and made a raid clear to the border, taking Palomas. They were soon put down, but never fully pacified. The Tarahumari Indians, remnants of the ancient tribes of the region, had considerable development in the domestic arts, such as fabrics and pottery. They were ardent hunters, but were perhaps most noted for their wonderful endurance as runners. The renegade Apaches, driven out of Arizona and New Mexico, made their last stronghold in the Sierra Madre. 100 miles or so southwest of Casas Grandes, where probably a few scattered remnants remain to this day.

Spaniards Built Roads.

"The old road followed by Colonel Dodd's column south from Hachita is part of the ancient Spanish trail connecting central Mexico with what is now New Mexico and Arizona and connecting New Mexico and Colorado with California. A hundred years ago copper ore from the Santa Rita mines, now Chino, was packed over this ancient trail to the City of Mexico. After the Santa Fe trail was opened up from the Missouri river to Santa Fe this old road became one of the branches by which trade was carried on with western Mexico. Another branch, also an ancient Spanish road, passed through El Paso and down the valley to Guadalupe, thence to Chihuahua.

"Before and during the war with Mexico no other route from El Paso to California was known that this old road via Santa Rita, Hachita and Janos, through Guadalupe pass to the Santa Cruz valley and Tucson. The long detour into Mexico was made necessary by the lack of water, or supposed lack, and supposed impassability of the more northerly route. Most of the 'forty-niner' emigrant traffic passed over that older Mexican route."

INSANE WOMAN TRIES TO BURN COUNTY JAIL

DAYTONA NURSE ADJUDGED INSANE AND WILL BE TAKEN TO CHATTAHOOCHEE TODAY—FORMERLY OF ASHEVILLE, N. C.

Miss May Jones, a professional nurse who has been employed in Dr. Bohannon's hospital for the past three months, was adjudged insane at DeLand Monday and will be taken to Chattahoochee today.

Monday night the woman attempted to set fire to the county jail at DeLand. Some way or other she came into possession of matches and, lighting one, threw it into a pile of clothing. Sheriff Smith smelled the smoke and extinguished the fire before it did any damage other than to the clothing.

Last week the woman acted queer and on one occasion fired a pistol several times in the hospital. Another peculiarity was her particular liking for calling various persons on the telephone during all hours of the night. The woman came here from Asheville, N. C.

Love vs. Jealousy.

He—"Do you believe there is such a thing as true and lasting love?" She—"I sometimes doubt it." He—"Well, there is Mr. and Mrs. Gessing, for example. They have been married ten years, and they seem never to want to lose sight of each other. Doesn't that look like true and lasting love?" She—"It may be that; but it looks to me more like true and lasting jealousy."

In Sunny Spain.

In Spain it is notorious that on the eve of a bull fight cases of petty larceny are tripled, quadrupled or quintupled in order that penniless "sportsmen" may find the wherewithal to witness a game which demands besides the daring of a few brave men, the death of half a dozen "pampered bulls," the slaughter or mutilation of a dozen horses, and the presence and plaudits of thousands of men, women and little children.

Democratic Triumph.

The walking-stick as we know it at present, gained its popularity in France during the eighteenth century, when it came to be carried by rich people who had no right to wear a sword. The dandies twirled a thin bamboo cane in their fingers, but the great financiers—who had considerable influence at that time—made the stick a fashionable addition to their wardrobe, and sometimes paid as much as 10,000 crowns for one. This carrying of a walking-stick was regarded as a democratic triumph over the nobility, who refused the commoners the right to wear a sword.—London Chronicle.

150,000 WAR ORPHANS COMING

People in the United States to Adopt Little French Children.

French officials are preparing to place 150,000 French children made orphans by the war with American families. Professor Laird, director of the Paris university, has been asked to take charge of the movement.

In a report to the Orphan society meeting Miss Florence Schofield, who toured the United States in behalf of the stricken children, said that American families had expressed their willingness to take charge of 150,000 children.

A special committee presided over by Professor Laird was then named to complete the arrangements.

The number of widows of British soldiers thus far reported to the army council is 41,500. William Hayes Fisher, parliamentary secretary of the local government board, said.

The widows of sailors, Mr. Fisher added, aggregated about 8,000, making a total of 49,500 widows.

Nebular Hypothesis.

The nebular hypothesis, as promulgated by Kant and developed by Herschel, is simply a theory of the formation of the solar system. To Herschel it seemed that he was able to view the actual changes by which the nebula, or glowing vapor, became condensed down into stars, as one can study the growth of the trees in the forest, but, to quote the Encyclopaedia Britannica, "in attempting to pronounce upon the evidence with regard to Herschel's theory, we must at once admit that the transmutation of a nebula into a star has never been seen." The actual history of the condensation of the oceans from the primordial atmosphere remains perforce a mystery.

TROOPS REQUIRED

LEAVE ALL PETS

COLUMBUS, N. Mex., April 4.—

Soldiers who went in search for Villa were forced to leave their pets behind them in Columbus. Most of these were dogs—"hoonts" of every description, from the skinny hairless freak, called "Fitz" to the good-natured bowser with a shape like a tortoise, called "Taft." Another is called "Woodrow" and one with long spindles responds to the name of "Panchito."

"Woodrow," favorite of a company now at the front, finding himself neglected by the sergeant here in whose charge he was placed, deserted his new master for the company of a hobo who gave him half of his portion of bacon each morning. Thursday night it was bitterly cold and the hobo shivered so "Woodrow" went to the tent of the sergeant, who was on patrol, seized his blanket between his teeth and dragged it to the haymow bungalow of his new master.

When arrested the Knight of the Road reluctantly confessed that the dog had brought the blanket to his "hotel". The tramp was ordered to unload a stack of lumber in the railroad yard and to leave town immediately thereafter, which he did, taking with him "Woodrow" the soldiers' friend.

Now the soldiers say the sergeant "will get his" when the company at the front returns from its chase of Villa and finds its "mascot" gone.

The composition of the jury of the Sheringa from Frankfurt, Germany, has been made the second change in the roster of the government's official advisors since the outbreak of the European war. The other new Germany at Bonn, Bonn, was moved out there, while the new German at Bonn was moved to Bonn, Bonn, in the direction of the country.

There has been one other change in the cabinet since Mr. Wilson assumed office three years ago. That was the departure of John D. He was elected and is to become United States senator.

During his long political career, Mr. Wilson has never been in the United States senate. He was elected to the United States senate in 1902, but declined to accept the nomination.

On the other hand, the Commission also provides for the removal of a citizen's duty of military service in circumstances where the individual is unable to be mobilized to battle because of health or age. For example, the law states that the obligation to perform a national service duty ceases for a person if he or she is unable to do so due to a physical condition diagnosed by a doctor, or if he or she is over the age of 60.

Under the plan, private arms would be encouraged to be in the militia for a portion of the day, pay from the federal treasury. Federal compensation, therefore, is paid for the entire effort.

Furthermore, because the U.S. authorities are greatly worried because no people there is thought to be concerned about the present government of a New South Wales, the FBI is a number of efforts to meet the government's needs. The American, however, has been the Government's major assistance. Therefore, there is much to be done for the welfare of the New South Wales, in the event of war or the future years.

Bryan and McReynolds Others Who Have Left.

WHY GARRISON RESIGNED.

Differed in Opinion With President as to the Proper Method of Enlarging and Improving the United States Army—What He Advocated and What Wilson Supports.

The resignation of Secretary of War Garrison from President Wilson's cabinet marks the second change in the ranks of the president's official advisors since the outbreak of the European war. The other was Secretary of State Bryan, who would not sign what has been termed a warlike note sent to Germany in regard to the sinking of the Lusitania.

There has been one other change in the cabinet since Mr. Wilson assumed office three years ago. That was the resignation of Attorney General McReynolds, who quit in order to accept an appointment to the United States supreme court bench. He was succeeded by Attorney General Gregory.

Secretary Garrison resigned because he and the president didn't agree on the proper methods of enlarging and improving the United States army. President Wilson wanted to leave the army in the hands of Congress. Secretary Garrison insisted on the independence of his program.

The Garrison Plan.

Secretary Garrison's plan provided for the raising of a citizen army of 100,000 men to supplement the regular army. It was to be recruited in increments of 125,000 men a year. Its recruits were to be obligated to devote a specified time for training for a period of three years and then to be on furlough without obligation excepting to return to the colors in the event of war or threatened war.

Mr. Garrison proposed to recruit the Continental army territorially, according to population, and to have it subjected to two months' intensive training each year for three years. Officers were to be obtained largely from the national guard, from the regular army list and from the various military bases of regular army officers.

President Wilson was inclined to support the plan advocated by Representative Hay, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs.

The Hay Plan.

Chairman Hay's plan places the main reliance for a reserve on the national guard or organized militia of the several states. Under the Hay plan young men would be encouraged to be in the militia by a system of liberal pay from the federal treasury. Liberal compensation likewise is provided for militia officers.

Under this system Mr. Hay believes the guard would become so popular that it could be recruited from its present personnel of a few more than 120,000 to a number sufficient to meet the situation which Mr. Garrison would care for with his Continental army of 400,000. Provision would be made for the draft of the militia into the federal army in the event of war or its imminence.

Mr. Garrison before his appointment as secretary of war was not much known outside his own state of New Jersey, where he had been on the bench as vice chancellor since 1904.

Garrison a Born Fighter.

Mr. Garrison comes of a race noted for the trait of adherence to their own convictions. His paternal grandfather was a famous country doctor, a sort of dictator in his own sphere; his maternal grandfather was a Presbyterian elder and his father an Episcopal rector. He has abundantly shown as secretary of war that he believed in sticking to his convictions. Consequently his resignation was no surprise to his friends.

Mr. Garrison was born in Camden, N. J., Nov. 28, 1804. He spent one year at Harvard, but at eighteen entered a Philadelphia law office. He was admitted to the bar in Pennsylvania in 1826 and in New Jersey in 1828, when he began practicing law in Camden.

Ten years later he moved to Jersey City, and in 1864 he was appointed vice chancellor by the then Chancellor Magle. Chancellor Pitney, now Supreme Court Justice Pitney, reappointed him in 1911, and he remained on the bench until President Wilson chose him as secretary of war.

As secretary of war Mr. Garrison is credited with having introduced many innovations and reforms, particularly in line with the idea of obtaining more prompt mobilization of the country's resources in time of war. He also announced that he believed in developing the individual authority and initiative, combined with greater responsibility, of commanding officers of all ranks rather than too great dependence upon orders from Washington.

In March, 1915, there were rumors that Mr. Garrison would resign to accept the post of chief justice of the New Jersey supreme court and also that he planned to run either for governor of New Jersey or senator from that state. He was also mentioned for the supreme court justiceship left vacant by the death of Justice Lamar.

My Cousin From America

By EUNICE BLAKE

The Von Muellers are one of the oldest families in Prussia. But there have been spendthrifts in the family, men who despised the making of money and who have had no other profession than the army, which, to say the least, is not lucrative. The original family estates were conferred on Otto von Mueller for military service.

One of my uncles, Caspar von Mueller, rather than be a poor aristocrat in Prussia chose to be a rich commoner in America. At any rate, he went there to attempt to make a fortune. He succeeded, and at the beginning of the twentieth century was the only rich one of the family. He was loyal to his relatives and entered upon a correspondence with my father, his brother, with a view to starting the family on a new career of prosperity by means of his great wealth. He had only one child, a son, and his plan was to marry him to one of the family in Prussia. Then the young man was to remove to the fatherland and by means of his wealth secure a position at the kaiser's court.

Our Von Muellers in Germany were quite pleased with the plan. The aristocracy and the commercial classes had been drawing closer together. The kaiser himself owned a pottery. Caspar von Mueller's millions, though acquired in trade, were not to be despised. To make a long story short, it was arranged that he should come over to Germany, and I, being the only girl Von Mueller of suitable age for him, it was hoped that a match might be arranged between him and me.

One evening a lot of us Von Muellers were sitting in a public garden listening to an orchestra and drinking wine or beer. Two young men came in and took seats at a table near us. They seemed to be English—at least they spoke the English language. The feeling against the English people was very strong, and even the language was irritating. But one of the young men opposite me was very handsome, and I could not help glancing at him occasionally. Whether or no he was encouraged by this or because he admired me, he gazed at me continually. Finally my brother Otto, a lieutenant in the army, noticed his eyes continually bent on me. Rising, Otto went to the table where the young man was sitting and said, "I will pig stick you," and threw a card on the table bearing his name and address.

This was equivalent to a challenge to fight. As soon as Otto returned to us I gave him a piece of my mind, telling him that I did not need him to protect me and he had no right to challenge a man simply for admiring me.

I did not know whether the stranger would fight, but I determined to prevent a meeting if possible. My cousin Gustav, a boy of fifteen, was of our party, and Otto having left us, taking Gustav with me, I went to the table where the two strangers were sitting and said to the one who had been looking at me:

"I have a request to make of you, sir."

Rising and removing his hat, he asked to be informed what it was. I spoke in German, and he replied in the same language, though with a foreign accent.

"I have seen my brother challenge you. I beg that you will decline to fight."

"But your German men expect?"

"Never mind what our German men expect. You have the request of a German woman. It should be of greater import to you than the demand of any man."

He hesitated for a few moments, then said:

"Fraulein, I shall consider your request a command. I beg to offer an apology for looking so intently upon you. In the first place, I lost a sister a few years ago who greatly resembled you. In the second place, I admit that you excited my admiration the moment I looked at you."

"No apology is necessary. I thank you very much for granting my request."

As I was turning away to rejoin the party at our table he said:

"May I ask, fraulein, to be informed as to whom I have the honor to obey?"

"I am Bertha von Mueller."

He looked at me with an expression which I did not understand, but said nothing further.

The duel, of course, did not take place. My brother in speaking of it said contemptuously that the man was doubtless an Englishman and the English would not fight. A few days after the occurrence my father told me that my cousin had come from America and would call the next afternoon. Father hoped that I would make myself as agreeable as possible.

The next day when I went down into the drawing room to see my cousin I stood speechless with astonishment. He looked at me with an amused smile. He was the man who had admired me at the garden and whom I had prevented fighting my brother.

"Cousin Bertha," he said, "that was quite an episode, my meeting the girl I had come across the water to see. Was it not?"

"Indeed it was!" I stammered.

I married my cousin, but instead of his remaining in Germany I went back with him to America. He said he did not care to remain where a man was liable to be pig stuck for admiring a woman. Besides, he preferred the activity of life in America.

MR. AND MRS. W. H. ALLAN

GUESTS AT PALMETTO HOTEL

Wm. H. Allan, of New York, well known to many of the older residents of this section, is a guest at the Palmetto hotel, accompanied by Mrs. Allan. Mr. Allan many years ago owned residence property and an orange grove at Port Orange and was also the owner at one time of what is now the Wilson grove at Holly Hill. He is now largely interested in citrus culture in Porto Rico. Mr. and Mrs. Allan came to Daytona Saturday and will leave tomorrow as the Palmetto hotel will close tomorrow morning. Mr. and Mrs. Allan have been guests of Proprietor Roberts at the Thorwald in Gloucester, Mass.

Unspeakable.

The feelings of a man who lends a $3,000 auto to a friend who lets it get smashed to smithereens in a collision are of the things unspeakable. Especially when the borrower is financially unable to "make good."

Bulgarian Landholders.

SCHMADEKE PARTY GO NORTH

IN PRIVATE CAR, COM'NWEALTH

J. F. Schmadeke and his sons and daughters, Herman R. and J. F. Schmadeke, Jr., and the Misses Cecilia and Daisy Schmadeke, who have been spending the seasons here for the past two or three years and were this winter located in the C. M. Dow residence on South Ridgewood avenue, departed on the early train this morning in the private car, Commonwealth, going north over the Atlantic Coast Line railway to New York on their return to their home in Brooklyn. This pleasant family has made numerous friends here who are glad to know that they plan to be in Daytona again next winter. Mr. Schmadeke having rented for the season the Thomas H. White residence on South Beach street.

Beer From Rice.

Perhaps the most peculiar beer in the world is sake, a beer which the Japanese make from rice. It is the common alcoholic liquor of Japan, and is usually heated before drinking.

A SINGLE HEAD OF LETTUCE

WEIGHS OVER THREE POUNDS

J. P. Wilcox, of 70 Fairview avenue, brought to the News office Monday afternoon a magnificent head of Romaine lettuce grown by him at his home. The single head of lettuce, which looked more like a head of cabbage, weighed three pounds and two ounces. Mr. Wilcox had about 50 of the plants and says that a number of the heads have weighed from two to two and a half pounds apiece. The leaves are thick and heavy, but very crisp and tender. The inner leaves of the head may be used as is the ordinary lettuce, but the whole plant is particularly good cooked as greens. It is very hardy and easily grown. Mr. Wilcox says, and should be generally cultivated here.

To enjoy life to its fullest, come to Daytona.

FLORIDA EAST COAST CHAMBER COMMERCE

The Florida East Coast Chamber of Commerce will meet in the chamber of commerce rooms in Jacksonville on April 13 and 14 next. Many matters of interest and importance will come up for discussion. Among them are good roads, setting aside of a Highway Beautification day, Everglades drainage, improvement of the East Coast canal, transportation problems of the farmers, and the annual appropriation by the state legislature of not less than $50,000 to advertise the resources of the entire state.

It is important that this meeting be made a success in every way. It will be the first that has been held in the northern part of the territory which this organization embraces and it is desired to arouse the interest and enthusiasm of the northern counties.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Van Meter, who had again this season been located in the E. S. Hall apartments, 61 Fairview avenue, left this morning in their car for the long tour to their home in Sherman, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Van Meter, who have been coming to Daytona for a number of years, have for several seasons been making the trip north and south in their automobile.

Mrs. Rainsford French and little sons, Rainsford Junior, and Charles, arrived Monday evening from Baltimore, Md., and will spend a month or longer here with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ballough and Wilma's Ballough at their home on South Palmetto avenue. Mr. French and family who are now located in Baltimore, were formerly residents of Daytona and Mr. French only recently sold his comfortable home on Cedar street to A. J. Quackenbush, of Schenectady, N. Y. Mrs. French has many friends in Daytona and vicinity who will be delighted to see her.

Adam Schantz and family who had been here about three weeks, guests as usual, at Schmidt's hotel, departed Monday afternoon on their return to their home in Dayton, O. Mr. Schantz who always devotes much time to fishing while here, spent a part of his time at Ponce Park. Mr. Schantz and family at one time resided in Daytona, during the Shantz ownership of the electric light plant installed by his father, and have numerous friends in this city and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fitts, who had been guests for some time at the Prince George hotel, left Monday on their return to Moravia, N. Y. Mr. Fitts is vice-president of the First National bank of Moravia, and a cousin of J. Fitch Walker, of that city and Daytona. While here Mr. and Mrs. Fitts and Mr. and Mrs. Walker and daughter, Mrs. E. F. Murdock, enjoyed a number of pleasant automobile trips together. Mr. and Mrs. Fitts greatly enjoyed their sojourn here and promise to come again.

Sleep in Darkened Room.

The most undisturbed sleep is always enjoyed in a thoroughly darkened room. Light acts upon the brain, and those who keep their blinds up will find that in the summertime, when so few hours are really dark, their sleep is restless and disturbed.

If You Do Not Sleep Well.

Should you be a restless sleeper, should sleep come to you only at fits and starts, try simple remedies, and do not plunge into narcotics or stimulants—at least not until the others have failed. A famous English physician is quoted as saying, "I can cure the worst case of insomnia in this manner: When the patient has retired, give her a heaping bowl of bread and milk, with just a dash of salt to season it. This will draw the blood from the head to the stomach. It will quiet the nerves and put the entire body in a healthy glow, and in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred the patient falls into a healthy, restful sleep." Another tasty dose to take which will induce sleep is a cold orange juice just before retiring. There are certain sedative as well as stimulating qualities in an orange, and it is probably one of the most efficacious fruits that can be taken for this purpose.

Tyrannical Conventuality.

There is little doubt that one of the most oppressive, injurious, detestable forces in the world is the force of conventionality, that instinct which makes men judge character and an action, not by its beauty or its merits, but by comparing it with the standard of how the normal man would regard it. This vast and intolerable medium of dullness, which penetrates our lives like a thick, dark mist, allowing us only to see the object in range of an immediate vision, hostile to all originality, crushing respectability, that dictates our homes, our occupations, our amusements, our emotions, our religion, is the most ruthless and tyrannical thing in the world.—Arthur Christopher Benson.

To Protect Wall.

To wash, paint or varnish woodwork without soiling or marring the wall, use a piece of window glass with a straight edge about twelve inches long to hold between your work and the wall. This can easily be cleaned and will not warp or bend, as does a piece of cardboard, which is sometimes used.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

NEW SCHOOL BLDG. TO BE BUILT IN CITY OF DELAND

The county board of public instruction in session at DeLand this forenoon ordered an election in the city of DeLand for the purpose of voting upon the proposition to issue bonds to the amount of $60,000 for the erecting a new school building in the district embraced in the territory of DeLand.

No action was taken on letting the contracts for the new school buildings in Daytona, as the architect has not yet completed the plans and specifications.

Hard Labor.

"So, you want more money, do you?" remarked the stern parent. "Why don't you go to work? You never earned a cent in your life." "Why, father, how you do talk," rejoined the young man. "I'm sure no one ever worked harder than I do in trying to get a dollar out of you now and then."

NO ACTION ON ROAD CONTRACT TAKEN BY CO. COMMISSIONERS

MATTER OF BUILDING DAYTONA-DELAND ROAD TO BE BROUGHT UP AT MAY MEETING—NEW SWYRNA NEWS TO PUBLISH TAX LIST.

The board of county commissioners in session at DeLand last evening and this forenoon took no action on letting the contract for the eastern end of the DeLand-Daytona road and the matter will lay in abeyance until the May meeting. At the special meeting when the road contracts were let the building of this road was let to the Pathfinder Construction company, but the representative of the company called the attention of the board to the fact that his bid stipulated he would accept none of the contracts unless awarded 60 per cent of the work in the district. This brought up a situation that was unlooked for, and as a result other arrangements must be made for the construction of this stretch of road.

The board of county commissioners awarded the publication of the delinquent tax list to the New Smyrna News.

Gracious Manners.

The charm of gracious manners and consideration for other human beings is a quality that develops rapidly if given half a chance. The woman who is always kind creates an atmosphere of loveliness that is like a halo about her head. If you are naturally shy and reticent, it is all the more necessary that you should endeavor to shine a bit. It is not lack of pleasant thoughts that worries the self-conscious, but the fear of giving expression to them. You must try to make yourself companionable to others.

In the Same Box.

The Village Grocer (peevishly)—"Look here, Aaron! What makes you put the big apples on the top of the barrel?" The Honest Farmer (cheerfully)—"What makes you comb that long scalplock over your bald spot?" Puck.

"POOR LITTLE PEPPINA"
SCORES GREAT HIT
 Mary Pickford appeared at the Crescent theatre Monday evening in the role of "Peppina" in the splendid production of Kate Jordan's "Poor Little Peppina" and to say the least she was at her very best in this very difficult and appealing character. She is a little Italian apparently, but all the while her American parentage is underlying every effort and whim of this child of tragedy.

The spectator is carried through all the intricacies of the life of the bandit Italians, with Peppina, escaping and coming to the United States as a stowaway, disguised as a boy. Arriving in America becomes a newsboy, bootblack, fruit vender and messenger. She goes through all the horrors of the life in an opium den, and her escaping of all these difficulties is very thrilling.

The theatre was packed at the first performance, while at the beginning of the second show the imporing of people made it a difficult task for those who had seen the play to leave the theatre. The showing of the second film had to be delayed somewhat to enable the people to become seated.

The support is very good, well known players as Edwin Mordant, Eugene O'Brien, Antonio Mariori, Ernesto Torti, Cesare Gravina, Francisca Guerra and W. T. Carleton appear in the cast.

The film will be shown today at the Crystal theatre to enable those who have not already seen the performance to avail themselves of this splendid opportunity.

"THE SUPREME SACRIFICE" AT CRYSTAL WEDNESDAY

"The Supreme Sacrifice" affords Robert Warwick a magnificent opportunity to display his brilliant gifts of dramatic power and characterization.

The story concerns itself with the heroic sacrifice of David Aldrich, a young author (played by Mr. Warwick), who sacrifices himself and endures a bitter term of years in prison to save the hallowed memory of his dearest friend, an East Side clergyman, who in a moment of desperation has embezzled the charity funds placed in his care to satisfy the extortionate demands of a woman with whom he had become entangled years before.

David's heroic deed of self abnegation makes of him a social Pariah. But through the years of his dark trials the faithful love of a noble-hearted woman endures and sweetens his cup of bitterness.

Up the long, dreary road that eventually leads to success and happiness for David, he toils bravely and with a man's heart.

"The Supreme Sacrifice" is unquestionably one of the most noteworthy dramas in which the universally popular Robert Warwick has appeared. Big scenes, dramatic climaxes, swift pulsant action and a splendid story with perfect photography enhance the vital interest of this photoplay.

The above picture will be shown at the Crystal Wednesday, Apr. 5.

"THE YOUNG ROMANCE"
AT CRESCENT WEDNESDAY

Nellie Nolan, the heroine of this very unusual story, presides over the notion counter in a department store. but nevertheless, romance flourishes in her soul, and she devotes all her spare moments to reading novels in which "high society" and foreign nobility figure prominently. One day in a fit of June madness, she determines to spend the entire $100 she has saved by living like a "real lady" for one glorious week of her vacation. By judicious buying at second-hand stores she accumulates a suitable wardrobe and betakes herself to a fashionable Maine Seaside resort where she poses as a Fifth avenue heiress.

In the same big department store there works one Tom Clancy, who, likewise, is of a romantic turn of mind and who, lured on by dreams of adventure and fortune, goes for his vacation to the same town and under much the same false colors. Tom works in the hardware department downstairs, wherefore it happens that he and Nellie have never met.

The rich young woman impersonated by Nellie receives a large inheritance during the one eventful week, and this fact, recorded in all the newspapers, causes a fortune-hunting count to induce her to visit a deserted island. She finds herself kidnapped, and is obliged by the count to sign a check for $10,000.

How Tom learns of Nellie's distress on the barren island, how he rescues her, and how the two young people fall in love constitute the main succeeding events of the story. They separate, both being ashamed to confess their deceits, but, the very first day they return to the store Tom is transferred to a counter right opposite Nellie's counter—and so the course of true love runs to a happy conclusion.

This youthful romantic drama will be presented to patrons of the Crescent theatre Wednesday, April 5.

AEROPLANE CATAPULT ON NORTH CAROLINA WIDENS RANGE OF EYES OF BATTLE FLEET

Seaplanes Are Shot From Deck of Cruiser and Rise While Vessel Is Going at Full Speed.

Navy Department Expects to Maintain Air Craft With the Fleets at All Times, Secretary Daniels Says.

By ROBERT G. SKERRETT, in the Scientific American.

EVEN the layman knows today that air craft have materially altered the problems of military strategy. He knows that they have done this by reason of their ability to speed about aloft and to watch with measurable safety the movements of a foe and the distribution and kinds of forces at his command. In short, the aeroplane has permitted spying from high in the air.

What has thus been done for armies in the field will in the near future be done for battle fleets or squadrons. The naval air pilot will become an invaluable aid to an admiral in planning how best to meet his foe or how, if that be the wiser course, to avoid an engagement with the enemy's fighting ships. All of this may sound erected and just as rapidly dismantled and stored away. His first apparatus was tested over three years ago at the Washington navy yard, and as an outcome of those promising experiments a new machine was designed and sent to the aeronautic station at Pensacola, Fla.

There it was installed at the start upon a coal barge and thoroughly tried out. As a result of its success the apparatus was removed and placed permanently aboard the U. S. S. North Carolina. It is from this ship that seaplanes have repeatedly been launched in the past few weeks in the open sea and with the armored cruiser under way. Despite the fact that one of the older and heaviest of the service aeroplanes has been used in these trials, the catapult has answered admirably and has taken care of the load imposed upon it again and again. This

CRUISER NORTH CAROLINA MOTHER OF OUR SEAPLANES

"Although the navy had very little to start with in building up its aviation service—only four aviators and four machines of an unsatisfactory type—the work of improving the service has gone ahead steadily during the last two years," said Secretary of the Navy Daniels the other day. "The cruiser North Carolina has been fitted up as a mother ship for sea planes with a special launching device on her deck. She has gone to join the fleet, and the navy department expects hereafter to be able to maintain aeroplanes with the fleet at all times."

aboard even if it were held by a line. Clearly it would be impracticable to abandon the truck and to hold in reserve any number of them. The motive power employed for moving and speeding up the catapult car is compressed air. By means of a throttle worked by a cam the air impulse is progressively increased upon the operative piston or plunger which functions the wire rope purchase by which the truck is pulled during its comparatively short run of something less than fifty feet. The actual stroke of the piston is in the neighborhood of one inch for each foot of advance on the part of the truck, the turns of the wire rope over pulleys serving to produce this multiplication of movement. The air required by the catapult is supplied from the torpedo air service of the cruiser and at a pressure of something like 300 pounds per square inch. The runway is made up of light steel angle iron and raised only three feet or so above the ship's deck, to which the structure is secured by attachments that can be quickly released when it is desired to dismount the apparatus. The aviator is not jarred during the acceleration of the car and the final catapulting of the seaplane. The only sensation on the part of the pilot is like that due to a sudden blast of air in the face. The trials so far have been conducted with the North Carolina steaming along at cruising speed.

A scout cruiser is capable of covering a visual front of but twenty miles under favorable conditions of the atmosphere. An air scout 4,000 feet aloft can observe ships seventy miles away! There is no need of elaboration upon the strategic advantage obtained by the use of scouting seaplanes. It is just this widened field of observation which the aeroplane catapult makes possible.

point is suggestive because the weight factor may be taken to represent either a long range scout or a lighter seaplane equipped with bomb dropping apparatus.

In principle the launching device consists fundamentally of a car propelled along a narrow gauge track. Upon this car rests the seaplane, and the air craft is secured to the vehicle until the latter reaches the end of the runway. When the car stops the seaplane is automatically released, and the acquired inertia suffices to sustain the flying machine until its propellers are able to provide the necessary propulsive effort. As a rule, however, the aircraft's motors will be speeded up to this point by the time the end of the track is reached. The method of operating is as follows: The plane is lifted on to the car and secured to it; then the motors are set going, but not at full speed. This is accelerated after the catapulting begins. The aviator takes his seat in his craft, and when everything is in readiness the car, with its load, is drawn along the track at an increasing rate. This gathering momentum is so nicely controlled that a velocity of about fifty miles an hour is attained by the time the aeroplane is cast loose from the car. The car is brought to a standstill a very few seconds later.

Originally the truck was sent overboard at the end of its run, but in service aboard a ship under way at sea this would be undesirable, because it would be necessary either to stop or slacken speed in order to haul the car

PLEAS TO ESCAPE SERVICE IN WAR

Englishmen Offer Many Fanciful Excuses to Tribunals.

SOON TO CALL MARRIED MEN

"Indispensable" Appeals Made by Artistic Sign Painter, Undertaker, Cartoonist, Champion Clog Dancer, Expert Sausage Cutter, Bible Packer and Hundreds of Others.

Military service tribunals, consisting of anywhere from seven to twenty members, are sitting throughout England hearing applications for exemption from men eligible for service at the front. Many complaints have begun to go up over the leniency shown by the tribunals to single men who have offered rather fantastic reasons for evading service in the army. Complete exemption has been granted in comparatively few cases, but postponements have been most frequent, and the tribunals now are being warned that every single man excused means the earlier calling out of the groups of married men attested under the Derby scheme.

There is every indication it will not be long when the first of the married men will be called to the colors. Thus far the married men in the army have gone only through voluntary enlistment. The compulsory service act does not apply to them as yet, but thousands have attested their readiness to serve when the supply of single men is exhausted.

Many single men, with mothers or sisters dependent upon them, are making the assertion that their domestic duties are just as sacred and just as deserving of the nation's consideration as those of the married men. They make the further plea that their family obligations were imposed on them through no act of their own, whereas the married men assumed liability for others through voluntary choice.

"If I am to be called away from the support of my widowed mother and three dependent sisters," said one young clerk, "I will be followed by the thought that they must eventually go to the workhouse, and I am sure that under the circumstances I would not make a very good soldier for the king."

The tribunal thought otherwise. Exemptions are sought upon the theory that the applicant is "indispensable" to the conduct of the business in which he is engaged. Often the pleas are made by the employer.

Artistic Painting Not Needed. "This clerk manages my entire business and is absolutely indispensable," said one employer to the tribunal at Lewisham.

"And what do you pay him?" asked the chairman. "Seventeen shillings sixpence a week."

The tribunal held that "absolute indispensability" was worthy of higher consideration than $4 a week, and the clerk was swept into the army.

One employer appealed for the exemption of an "artistic sign painter." "In such a time of stress as this I think the country can get along with inartistic signs," ruled the chairman.

At Liverpool an undertaker declared he was truly indispensable. The tribunal told him to "H. I. P." for six months. After that he must join the army, where there is much work to be done by those skilled in the burial of the dead.

The lord mayor of London, an enthusiastic worker for recruits, applied to the London tribunal for the exemption of a footman employed at the Mansion House. The application said it was in the national interest that Mansion House arrangements for recruiting the public work generally should not be disturbed. Sir T. Vezey Strong, the chairman, thought a postponement of one month sufficient to allow the lord mayor to make other arrangements.

A widow of Penge obtained a three months' respite for her eligible son on the ground that he was indispensable to the conduct of her small laundry.

"He calls for and distributes the laundry," said she, "and does more ironing than any two women."

The tribunals face their greatest difficulty in dealing with the agricultural districts. Some farmers have gone to the extent of threatening to abandon their farms entirely if not allowed sufficient help. The tribunals now have adopted the policy of allowing three men to have 100 acres of farm land. In the meantime hundreds of thousands of women are being recruited for farm work.

A cartoonist thought himself indispensable because his drawings amused the soldiers at the front: "the champion clog dancer of the world" thought his supremacy in that art should not be endangered; "the best violin maker in England" felt he was needed at home; a popular "nut" of the music halls felt that London's indispensable revues would be failures without him; a buyer of silks, an "expert sausage cutter," a warehouse "samson" with remarkable lifting ability and a Bible packer all made pleas, but obtained exemption for brief periods only.

REPUBLICAN FORM OF GOVERNMENT IN CHINA

Mikado Shall Never Rule In Peking, Chinese Declare.

By TSE YUNG SOONG, Editor in Chief of the Chinese Students' Monthly.

That the republican form of government has come to stay in China is evidenced by the appointment of Mr. Kai Fu Shah as diplomatic adviser to the Chinese foreign office at Peking. Mr. Kai Fu Shah preceded Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo as China's minister at Washington.

It is recalled here that Mr. Shah never wavered in his loyalty to the Chinese republic. His appointment is as acceptable to his Chinese admirers in America as to his many American friends. While the mandate giving the viceregal to the monarchical movement may have surprised some Americans, it is no surprise to Chinese who know their country and realize what a firm hold republicanism has taken in China.

Everything points to the fact that political sentiment in China is solidly republican. A plain admission of this fact is the mandate signed by Mr. Hsu Shi Chang, who has returned to the cabinet as secretary of state, telling the world that Yuan Shih Kai "rejects the emperorship and resumes the presidency."

A great error has been made by a certain New York newspaper where it hastily assumes that China has become "the milch cow of Japan," that Japan has already achieved her ambition, which is to secure by stratagem or force, by fair means or foul, an overlordship over China. The truth is absolutely otherwise.

China is united to a man in the determination that neither in spirit nor in letter shall the dream of the Japanese jingoes be realized—that the mikado shall never rule in Peking. For that reason it is that the Chinese republicans, who were willing to give their lives for their principles, are now heartened, because moderation among those sincere if relatively few Chinese monarchists will enable all China to stand shoulder to shoulder in defense of the Chinese fatherland.

The practical sympathy of republican America is needed and sought by Chinese republicans. They rejoice that they can now ask for that sympathy as brothers in the great cause of government by the people for the people and not by the few for the few.

Why "Mercurial."

The adjective mercurial, like many others, came into ordinary speech from the realm of astrology. In astrological language a mercurial man was one born under the influence of Mercury, when Mercury was in the ascendant, and therefore possessed of the mental qualities supposed to distinguish the heathen god.

Great European University.

Yurief's renowned university was founded by the headlong warrior, Gustavus Adolphus, in 1632, the year of his death. Attached to it are an observatory, an anatomical theater, a museum of natural history, and one of the finest botanical gardens in Europe, whose collection contains more than 12,000 plants. Its library, 250,000 volumes, is housed in a restored part of the old cathedral. The university remained thoroughly German in spirit and sentiment until the year 1895, when it was thoroughly Russified. A long list of great German investigators, who worked and taught at Yurief, until its nationalization, was the intellectual center of the czar's Teutonic subjects.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE CLASS CLEARS $15 "FIELD DAY"

The Domestic science class of the Seabreeze - Daytona Beach public school, who had many articles on sale at "Field Day" on the school campus last Friday, cleared fifteen dollars on their cookery. This sum may seem inconsiderate, but it must be remembered that all of the materials used to bake the cakes and make the candies, were paid for, out of the money realized by their sale.

This money, added to some funds already on hand, will be used to purchase a much needed set of dishes by the girls of the class.

Every one of the members of this class take much interest in their work and the mothers are beginning to discover the addition of this branch to the Peninsula school, to be something worth while.

DEBATE SUBJECT IS GIVEN DAYTONA SCHOOL COMMITTEE

The subject for the debate to be held between three of the pupils of the Peninsula high school and three from Daytona, at the Daytona high school auditorium, next May 15, was decided on by the debating committee from Seabreeze and turned over to the Daytona boys, Monday afternoon. The subject is as follows: Resolved: That An Excess of Egotism is Worse Than an Excess of Humility.

This subject will be talked over by the Daytona committee, who will choose the side on which they wish to debate, sometime before the end of the present week.

Flax-Growing a Failure.

Flax-growing has not proved successful in the United States, although about $3,000,000 of flax fiber and more than $20,000,000 of linen goods are imported yearly. Failure of the European supply suggests a new attempt, and a Farmer's Bulletin reports that the fiber flax from Puget sound compares favorably with the famous product of Central, Belgium, and that Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan also yield good fiber. As preparation of the fiber requires technical knowledge and skill, co-operative associations for securing expert aid are proposed.

SEABREEZE TO MAKE UP BUDGET FOR NEXT YEAR'S EXPENDITURES

TOWN COUNCIL GOES OVER A LARGE AMOUNT OF BUSINESS
AT ITS REGULAR MONTHLY SESSION.

The Seabreeze town council met in regular session at the town hall on Butler boulevard Monday night and much business of interest was transacted. This meeting was the first in which the new members participated in any active business.

After the clerk read several communications of a more or less unimportant nature and submitted a report of the treasurer and superintendent of the water works, which was accepted, several complaints in regard to the taxes were heard by the body. J. Young and L. Z. Burdick, of Halifax avenue and J. R. Tomlinson and J. W. Williams, of Peninsula drive, all entered complaints and asked the help of the council, which promised to see what could be done.

H. G. Gilmore's bond as town treasurer, was then accepted by the body and all of the checks and other papers pertaining to this office were turned over to the new treasurer, as were the paraphernalia of other town officers, newly elected.

The body then spent some time discussing the condition of the fire department, bringing out the fact that an alarm system is badly needed by the town, and that there is no easy way to get the fire engine to the scene of the fire. This matter was laid on the table until next meeting.

The clerk read the committees which had been arranged, and they were passed on as follows: Finance committee, S. Z. Holland, chairman; H. G. Wilson, W. O. Upson; Law and Ordinance committee, W. P. Mathas, chairman; W. N. Manchester, S. Z. Holland; Street, Sanitation and Improvement committee, H. G. Wilson, chairman; S. Z. Holland, W. P. Mathas; Building committee, W. O. Upson, chairman; W. P. Mathas, H. G. Wilson; Taxes and Licenses committee, W. N. Manchester, chairman; W. O. Upson, W. P. Mathas; Water and Fire committee, S. Z. Holland, chairman; H. G. Wilson, W. P. Mathas.

After straightening out the committees, the council took up the matter of the salaries of the elected officers for the ensuing year. That of town treasurer will remain at $50 per year, as will that of the town clerk, and tax assessor. The superintendent of the water works will continue to receive $15 per month in addition to a percentage on material. After some discussion the body decided to pay Marshal D. E. Lowe $50 per month for the ensuing year, with the conditions that he mow all of the streets south of Glenview boulevard, twice, during the months from now, until December 1, and superintend the laying of marl on the streets, and do himself, the work of patching the roads wherever needed. After December 1, the marshal will attend to the duties of his office for the above remuneration.

The council then instructed the fire committee to submit a full report of the condition of the fire department at the next regular meeting on the first Monday in May.

The motion to have a call meeting on Monday, April 10, for the purpose of making up a budget for the coming year, was passed and the clerk was instructed to give notice to all of the town officers not in attendance to be present at this next meeting.

Marshal Lowe was instructed to order people to stop dumping trash in the low places along Wild Olive street after which the council adjourned until next Monday night at seven o'clock.

Napoleon's Estimate.

Napoleon Bonaparte, the most extraordinary product of modern times, contributed extensively by his wars to the population of the unknown world beyond the grave. It was not religious considerations that made him adhere to the old valuation of woman which bore a distinct ratio to her fertility. His own power depended upon the number of soldiers he could bring into the field.

FORMER BEACH RESIDENT NOW ELECTRICAL ENGINEER

George Horn, a former resident of Daytona Beach and son of C. L. Horn, is now employed by the Dudlo Manufacturing company, of Ft. Wayne, Ind., in the capacity of chief electrical engineer.

This plant employs over 500 men and turns out in the neighborhood of 16,000 electrical coils per day. Mr. Horn's work consists of making out and keeping the winding specifications, as well as having complete charge of the testing and inspection of the coils.

Mr. Horn attended the local school and is a graduate of the Daytona high school. He lived here with his parents and brother, Harry A. Horn, and sisters, for many years and has many dear friends among Peninsula residents. From here Mr. Horn went to Purdue university, in Indiana where he took up a course of electrical engineering, graduating a few months ago. Since that time he has obtained the excellent position already mentioned.

Mr. Horn has not been home for five years except for a month in 1914, and all of his friends will be pleased to hear of his success.

Miss Gladys Wonnacott left Sunday morning for her northern home in Carbondale, Pa., after spending a very pleasant winter, visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Wetherby. Miss Wonnacott lived in Seabreeze many years and attended the local school up to the time of her departure for the north in August, 1910. This winter is her first visit to her old home since then. Miss Wonnacott will meet her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. D. Robbins, at New York City and after spending a few days at the great metropolis, will go with them to Carbondale. All of her many friends grieved to see her go and hope for her return to the beach next winter.

Life in a Nutshell.

"Stop, look, listen." A reflective man was reading this railroad sign. "Those three words illustrate the whole scheme of life," said he. "As to how?" "You see a pretty girl. You stop. You look. After you marry her you listen."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

FRESH WATER KILLS SHELL FISH IN THIS LOCALITY, SAYS COM.

DRAINAGE CANALS HAS TENDENCY TO DEplete WATERS OF OYSTERS AND OTHER SALT WATER FISH.

That the drainage canals pouring their volume of water into the Halifax and other rivers along the East Coast is the cause of the rapid depletion of these waters of oysters and fish, is the opinion of Hon. T. R. Hodges, state shell fish commissioner, who is in Daytona today. Mr. Hodges believes that the tannic acid brought into the river by the drainage canals kills the oysters and causes the fish to leave. They also carry into the salt rivers volumes of fresh water, which is not conducive to fish life.

Mr. Hodge expects to leave tomorrow morning in the Seafoam, his official boat, for a trip down the east coast, going as far as Miami.
